

Dearest Friend,

I am writing to let you know that I am opening a new training based on the work I have been developing for the past three years. This training will teach you to be a Nondual Shaman, my name for shamanism and healing from a nondual point of view. This year I am inviting graduates of Nondual Kabbalistic Healing and IM/1 & 2 to join me. I will also accept a limited number of students who have not studied at A Society of Souls as well.

Acceptance into this course will be by an interview with me. The Training will be limited to approximately twenty students.

This work completes the healing path I started with Nondual Kabbalistic Healing and brings it to fruition as a way of life and service. This work — in a different form — was how I started my journey as a healer. My process of creation has always been very personal. My instinct and passion has always led me to continue growing and exploring the universe through my body, mind and spirit. At this point, it has become very important for me to pass on what I have discovered.

As I have passed the torch of Nondual Healing on to other able hands and hearts, I have returned to develop this work which extends what you already know from your NKH studies. Some elements of Nondual Shamanism take healing in an entirely new direction, while other elements of this approach re-vision it and add yet another dimension to the work of Nondual Healing.

I have designed a way for people to work with me with a minimum of travel and expense.

The training will work this way:

Online Training:

1. Voyagers (another name I use for Nondual Shamans) will be required to have seven, one-hour online video session with me.
2. Students will be paired throughout the online training and will share the cost of the session.

In-Person Retreat

1. Retreat. We will cap our study together with an in-person five-day retreat on Cape Cod. Although this is a new approach to shamanism, there is no substitute for having face-to-face interactions with fellow voyagers and the teacher. Our work will be both rigorous and informal, with plenty of time to enjoy the specifics of voyaging in the beautiful natural environments here on the Cape along with conversation, direct teachings and practicum.

If you are interested in getting more information about this training, please write to info@societyofsouls.com.

Blessings,
Jason.
